(c) whether a delegation from the UAE visited India in July, 2003 and had discussions with various leaders including the Deputy Prime Minister; and

(d) if so, to what extent it has helped to improve the relations between the two Countries?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI DIGVIJAY SINGH): (a) to (c) India and the United Arab Emirates held the first meeting of a strategic dialogue between the two countries during a visit by a high level delegation from the UAE led by His Highness Sheikh Mohammed Bin Zayed Al Nahyan, Chief of Staff of UAE Armed Forces from June 30—July 1, 2003. The discussions covered issues of bilateral, regional and international interest including cooperation in areas of trade and investment, industry, defence and security. It was agreed that the strategic dialogue would be institutionalized to take place annually. An agreement on defence cooperation was signed during the visit. His Highness Sheikh Mohammed called on President, PM, DPM, EAM and RM during the visit.

(d) The institution of a strategic dialogue, the signing of a defence agreement and the wide ranging discussions held during the visit reflects a new level of cooperation between the two countries and their intention to deepen and intensify it for mutual benefit.
